

EXPLOSIVE TESTER . . . A small, hand-held impulse resistance bridge, designed by Fleming Industries, Inc., Torrance, is said to be the first of its kind—one of a family of unique, portable instruments for safe testing of explosives and other heat sensitive devices. It is designed to test propelled or cartridge-actuated devices in missile launch, separation, or destruct packages by measuring circuit resistance.

Adjustment Myth Exploded For El Camino Instructors

"The Myth of Adjustment" was the topic of Dr. Herman M. Harvey, USC professor, who addressed the El Camino College faculty recently in the Campus Theater.

Introduced by Merl F. Sloan, director of student personnel at El Camino, Dr. Harvey stressed that one cannot be rid of frustrations.

"WE MUST develop a tolerance of frustrations and anxieties," he said, indicating that frustrations are the basic substance of that which is creative, important and productive.

Dr. Harvey, whose television performances in the field of psychology have brought him national recognition and awards, looked critically at those persons who feel that "adjustment is tantamount to reaching a state where there is no anxiety, fear, want, discomfort . . . They lie limply," he said, "without flavor, color, or odor like gelatin."

THE SPEAKER compared mental illness with polio, indicating that there may be no cure for mental disease. The emphasis, as in the case of polio, he said, should be on immunization.

The speaker noted that the individual must be taught to face frustrations, that they can not be eliminated for him.

Responsible for the presentation were W. Holmes Smith, assistant director of student personnel, and John de la Haya, assistant director of instruction.

Appeal for Drivers Issued By Junior Blind Foundation

APPEAL FOR DRIVERS 2-24

An urgent appeal for help has just been issued by the Foundation for the Junior Blind for volunteers with cars who are willing to give a few hours of their time to drive blind children to the Foundation's headquarters.

"The situation has become most critical," reported Norman Kaplan, founder and executive director of this non-profit organization which serves blind children between the ages of 6 and 21, from all over Los Angeles County.

"Drivers are desperately needed on Fridays and/or Saturdays to transport our blind children from their homes to our Foundation at 4005 Wilshire Blvd., Los Angeles.

VOLUNTEERS are under no obligation to do this any set number of times. Once a week, once a month, or even once every other month . . . every little bit helps," according to Kaplan.

"There are many blind children in the Torrance area who would like to use the Foundation's facilities but have no way of getting here," he said.

"WE HAVE AN excellent program of recreational classes to offer these children . . . classes in woodshop, poise and personal grooming, ham radio, cooking, judo, arts and crafts, music, dance, and many other activities designed to widen the scope of these children's lives. A capable teaching staff is willing and waiting to instruct these children, but without volunteers to drive them, we have no way of getting these youngsters to our Foundation. Consequently, they will be left to sit at home 'in a world of darkness,' instead of being able to study and play and grow in self-confidence and ability along with other children," he added.

Anyone able to give a few hours of his time, anytime, is asked to please contact the Foundation for the Junior Blind, 4005 Wilshire Blvd.

Detour Project Well Under Way

The detour construction project at the Wilmington Ave. and 223rd St. crossing of the Domingue Channel is progressing on schedule, Supervisor Burton W. Chace announced yesterday.

"This is in preparation for the pending construction of a bridge at this arterial intersection and consists of constructing a temporary two-lane pipeculvert detour on the westerly side of the intersection," Chace said.

The plans for the bridge, which are being designed by the Los Angeles County Road Department, are about 60 per cent complete. The bridge will be constructed jointly with the Los Angeles County Flood Control District channel improvement in the area.

Garden Checklist

1. Take some stem when you cut Camellia blooms if you would keep the shrubs compact.
2. Feed established roses to get them off to a good start. Wait until the first bloom to feed newly planted roses, however.
3. Plant a new lawn or reseed spotty areas in your established lawn this month or next.
4. Plant summer-blooming bulbs such as Tigridias, Cannas, Gladiolus.
5. No home is complete without a backyard orchard. If your yard is small, check into the many new varieties of dwarf fruit trees.

Important documents are there when you need them—if you keep them in a Security Bank SAFE DEPOSIT BOX. As little as 2c a day protects family "papers" from loss or damage.
